

Workshop · invented books and scores

Explore the decision, then replace this example with live Qloo discovery. These are illustrative results.

01 / THE READING TABLE

More than the usual favorites.

1 Other worlds 2 After-hours city 3 The living world

THE READING TABLE / 01

A Map of Unwritten Cities

Illustrative title
Strongest evidence: Other worlds

THE READING TABLE / 02

Field Notes from Tomorrow

Illustrative title
Strongest evidence: The living world

LEAST-COVERED BRIEF

390 / 1000

Every brief reaches at least this evidence score. The quieter brief gets a place in the decision.

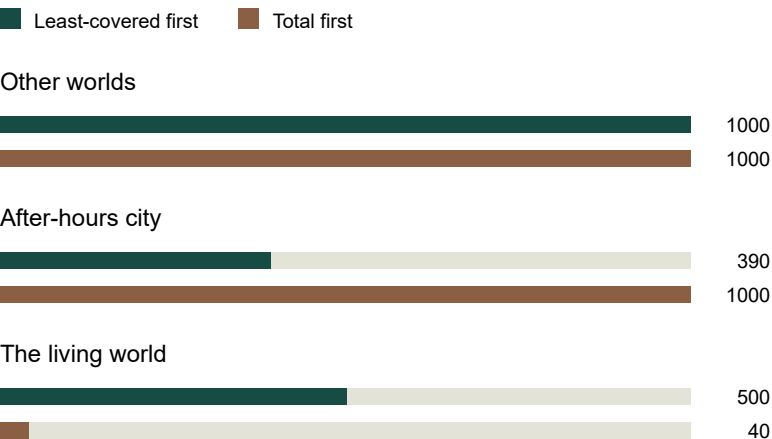

28 feasible slates compared

Exact for these 8 candidates, this scoring rule and your constraints.

02 / THE TRADEOFF

Who gets a way in?

Compare two exact choices from the same books.
One protects the least-covered brief. One maximizes the total.

IF YOU MAXIMIZED THE TOTAL

A Map of Unwritten Cities

The Last Train Is a Garden

The balanced slate raises the coverage floor by 350 points. Its total coverage is 150 points lower. That is the explicit editorial tradeoff.

Total coverage: 1890 balanced / 2040 total-first.

Coverage is the strongest returned evidence for a brief among the selected books. Live scores are $1000 \div \text{Qloo rank}$, rounded. They are not predictions of enjoyment or sales.